The Historic Counties Trust

Middlesex: What does it mean to you?

Do you feel you live or work in Middlesex?

Whether you do or not, what does "Middlesex" mean to you?

What makes Middlesex Middlesex?

What gives your town its character?

The historic county of Middlesex stretches from the farmland of Harefield to the glittering towers on the Isle of Dogs, from the Colne to the Lea and from Potters Bar to the Thames.
It is full of towns and villages, which have grown together, all full of places and memories.

We want to know what Middlesex is to you, and what your town is to you. We want your thoughts, and your stories. Send us pictures. Help us to build an idea of Middlesex today and in memory.

The things we receive will build a collection of material about Middlesex past and present.
Some will be used in an exhibition. Some will be used to help build up an appreciation of the county of Middlesex in the county.

Middlesex is one of the smallest of the traditional counties but is one of the most populous of all. 3¼ million people live within its borders, and each one has stories to tell.

Send to or for further information:

Write to:
Middlesex: What does it mean to you?
Wise House, 38 Pinewood Drive,
Potters Bar, Middlesex, EN6 2BD

or Email:
middlesex@historiccountiestrust.co.uk

Please visit our websites:
www.historiccountiestrust.co.uk
www.historiccountiestrust.co.uk/Middlesex
www.middlesexfederation.com
www.capitalcounty.com

The Historic Counties Trust
Charity no. 1114371

Capital County
Connecting Middlesex to Britain and the World